- a) Ms Pirozzoli met the then South African Minister of Tourism during a visit of Mr John Wiley to the United States. Since South Africa is a leader in conservation and environmental protection in Africa, the Minister invited Ms Pirozzoli to obtain first-hand insight into our successful methods - and instructed the New York office of the South African Tourism Board to make the appropriate arrangements.
- b) The public relations function of the South African Tourism Board in the United States involves extending invitations to journalists to research articles about South Africa on the spot. We believe that one of the rewards of travel to South Africa - game watching as well as hunting - can be significantly enhanced when seen through a child's eyes. For this reason, we invited David Hetzler - an editor with the Petersen magazine publishing group - to take his son Jeffrey to South Africa as guests of the Board so as to write up their experiences. One article has just appeared in Westways and another is scheduled to run in Petersen's Hunting.
